

Cooperative for Human Services Inc.

420 Bedford Street, Ste 100

Lexington, MA 02420

January, 2017

Dear Family Member or Guardian:

Cooperative for Human Services, Inc. is committed to promoting and protecting the dignity, rights and personal well-being of each of the people we serve. The organization utilizes a variety of methods and systems to ensure that each person served is supported in exercising their rights, each of our employees are trained to understand their roles and responsibilities, and family members and/or guardians have the information available to advocate on behalf of their family member.

All employees receive annual training on human rights, preventing and protecting the people we serve from potential abuse and/or neglect, and their role as a mandated reporter under Massachusetts' law. In addition, in each home, at least one direct support employee has received additional levels of training and serves as the designated Human Rights Officer. These Human Rights Officers were trained by the Department of Developmental Services and they support the agency's human rights systems.

The organization has a Human Rights Committee (HRC) that meets on a monthly basis to review policies, procedures, intervention strategies, potential limitations or restrictions, incident reports, etc. and assists the organization in assessing and managing risks. The HRC consists of persons served, family members/guardians and professionals.

We hope that you find this booklet helpful. The booklet contains our Mission and Principles, a review of the Rights and Responsibilities of the people we serve, our Human Rights Committee Membership List, Human Rights Officer List, the Disabled Persons Protection Commission information, and CHS contact information.

You may contact me at any time with any questions you have regarding our Human Rights Processes. If you would like to learn how you can volunteer or to join our Human Rights Committee, please call me at (781) 538-4626 x 230.

Sincerely,

Janice Ellis-Ballerini

Janice Ellis-Ballerini, MS, LMHC
Director of Clinical Services & Human Rights Coordinator

Organizational Mission & Principles

Mission:

Cooperative for Human Services, Inc. is multi-service organization that provides residential services, living supports and guardianship for people with developmental disabilities and mental retardation. The organization possesses a long-standing, demonstrated history of providing community-based, person-centered, services to individuals receiving supports throughout Greater Boston. The agency's residential services and living supports include staff-supported homes, specialized home care, staffed apartments, live-in supports and individual supports programs.

Established in 1981, the organization remains rooted in the premise that all successful services are developed and built upon individual relationships, one person at a time. The organization is proud of its history of creating flexible, responsive, services and supports that are not limited by pre-determined models and programs, but rather, are in direct response to individual needs. CHS is committed to these values and strives to meet each person's dynamic needs through innovation, initiative, and leadership.

CHS is committed to creating and providing services that promote, protect and safeguard the rights and personal dignity of all persons with disabilities. The organization emphasizes learning as a life long process and is dedicated to assisting each individual served in maximizing opportunities to experience and achieve personal goals. We readily accept that services must continuously evolve through time to respond to the ever-changing, individual needs, wants and desires of people with developmental disabilities and their families.

It is our mission to empower, support, and expand the knowledge, skill, and natural capacities of the people we support to direct and live full and meaningful lives within their communities. The organization's system of residential supports continues to provide a flexible yet established structure to build strategies that promote opportunity and personal growth for the people we serve and their families.

Our service activity and our guiding principles will be actualized in the design, decision-making and delivery of all services. They will serve as the foundation of accountability.

Guiding Principles:

- Treat every person with dignity and respect
- Support individuals as valuable members of their community by promoting physical and social integration and economic opportunity
- Design, deliver and modify services to meet the unique individual needs and preferences of those served
- Serve individuals of varying abilities, regardless of the intensity of supports needed
- Encourage stakeholder participation in the planning, support, provision, and evaluation of services
- Promote individual and family empowerment by enhancing true, informed choice
- Emphasize learning as a life-long process
- Provide services in an environment that promotes health, safety and a sense of worth
- Create an atmosphere of teamwork and open communications
- Promote innovation, flexibility and responsiveness
- Respect, value and celebrate diversity
- Work in partnership with others to maximize resources and alleviate duplication of effort
- Enhance the efficacy and public value of human services through leadership, advocacy and collaboration
- Carry out all policies and practices in an ethical, legal, accurate and fiscally responsible manner

Rights & Responsibilities

Privacy – Choice – Dignity – Voice – Equality

All people have certain basic rights; each person served shall have same rights as any other person without disabilities, the same rights guaranteed under state, federal law, and the United States Constitution. Cooperative for Human Services, Inc. is committed to promoting and protecting the rights and dignity of each person served.

We work to assist each person in understanding their rights utilizing the Annual RIGHTS & RESPONSIBILITIES as a formal means to provide training and information. We recognize that each person's ability to understand their rights and responsibilities varies; therefore, the method, approach, and means of communication can be modified and adapted to meet individual needs. Because every right implies a corresponding responsibility, the RIGHTS & RESPONSIBILITIES review serves as the foundation of a partnership with the people we serve.

Disabled Persons Protection Commission - DPPC

DPPC Mission Statement & Role

The mission of the Disabled Persons Protection Commission is: To protect adults with disabilities from the abusive acts or omissions of their caregivers through investigation oversight, public awareness and prevention. DPPC: (1) Receives and screens reports of suspected abuse, neglect and deaths through a 24-Hour Hotline, (2) Conducts investigations, (3) Oversees investigations conducted on DPPC's behalf by other state agencies including Department of Developmental Services (DDS), (4) Ensures that the appropriate protective services are provided when abuse has been substantiated or risk is determined, (5) Provides training and education for service providers, law enforcement personnel and the public, and (6) Provides assistance to the public in clarifying the presence of abuse and neglect.

Mandated Reporters

Mandated Reporters are persons who, as a result of their profession, are more likely to be aware of abuse or neglect of persons with disabilities. All CHS employees are considered Mandated Reporters and are required by law to report cases of suspected abuse to the Disabled Persons Protection Commission (DPPC) when they have a suspicion that a person with a disability is suffering from a reportable condition of abuse or neglect. Any person may choose to file reports of suspected abuse.

How to File a Report of Abuse or Neglect: DPPC 24-hour Hotline at 1-800-426-9009

Abuse or neglect committed against persons with disabilities might also be a crime. Call your local police immediately if you think a crime, such as an assault and battery, sexual assault, rape or larceny has been committed. In an emergency, contact your local police department by dialing 911.
